

ANALYTICAL REPORT

Elizabethan Era

- A. Summary- Even though you are a very wealthy and busy woman, I think you need to take some time off work. Which is why I, your assistant, have put together this report which tells you about the Elizabethan Era. This is the conclusion I have come to.
- B. Introduction- Since you own a time machine and have a passion for this era, this is where you will be spending your relaxing vacation.
- C. Status of Women- Back in the Elizabethan Era women were not treated equally as men. Women had to have one child every two years, they also had to care for the ones they already had. They also had to make bread and grow crops and make meals.
- D. Medicine- The medicine was very limited. When someone became very ill, they could not do much, and most of the time they died. A lot of children did not live past the age of twelve. Dental diseases sometimes caused death and blindness for children.
- E. Food- There were always feasts and dinners in this era. There were many different types of meat such as beef, lamb, pig, shrimp, sausage, sheep's feet, and many others. There was also fresh vegetables such as beans, potatoes, peas, yams, cabbage, carrots and turnips. There was also freshly baked breads, ripe fruits, delicious sweets, and refreshing drinks.
- F. Fun and Pastimes- Back in the day was much different then today, entertainment wise that is. People would put on plays, have balls, go to hangings to be entertained. There was also jousting and sword fighting.
- G. Clothing- Elizabethan men and women of the upper class dressed more for the attention then for the comfort. Men wore nice suits, top hat, and shiny shoes. Women wore very big and uncomfortable dresses. Men and women of the lower class wore rags and old worn out and torn clothes.

- H. Lodging- There were two kinds of homes. One was for the poor, which were made out of sticks and hay. While the richer folk houses were made out of sturdy bricks.
- I. Recommendations- In the conclusion to the above information, visiting the Elizabethan Era would be exciting and different yet interesting.
